

Reading

داستان کوتاه

درس بیست و یکم

+تحلیل خط به خط

کلمات و گرامر

سطح B1-B2

website: englishnerd.club

Mrs. Scott bought a new house last year. The walls of the rooms had been painted a short time before, and Mrs. Scott liked the colors, but the person who had sold her the house had taken the curtains with him.

Mrs. Scott bought a new house last year. The walls of the rooms had been painted a short time before, and Mrs. Scott liked the colors, but the person who had sold her the house had taken the curtains with him.

the walls of the rooms

the roof of the building

the beginning of the movie

What's the name of this town?

Sit in the back of the car.

Paris is the capital of France.

Mrs. Scott bought a new house last year. The walls of the rooms had been painted a short time before, and Mrs. Scott liked the colors, but the person who had sold her the house had taken the curtains with him.

Mrs. Scott bought a new house last year. The walls of the rooms had been painted a short time before, and Mrs. Scott liked the colors, but the person who had sold her the house had taken the curtains with him.

the person who had sold her the house had taken the curtains with him.

The person had sold her the house.

He had taken the curtains with him.

So Mrs. Scott had to buy new ones, and of course she wanted to buy ones whose colors would go with the walls of her rooms.

So Mrs. Scott had to buy new ones, and of course she wanted to buy ones whose colors would go with the walls of her rooms.

go with

colors would go with the walls
I don't think pink and yellow really go.

Do you think this shirt will go with the skirt I bought?

So Mrs. Scott had to buy new ones, and of course she wanted to buy ones whose colors would go with the walls of her rooms.

whose

ones whose colors

the door whose handle is broken

the door ~~that its~~ handle is broken

The people whose house is big.

The people ~~that their~~ house is big.

Do you know the man whose car is stolen?

Why did she have to buy new curtains?

What kind of curtains did she want?

She discovered that her comb was exactly the same color as these walls, so she always took it with her whenever she went to look for cloth for curtains.

She discovered that her comb was exactly the same color as these walls, so she always took it with her whenever she went to look for cloth for curtains.

She discovered that her comb was exactly the same color as these walls, so she always took it with her whenever she went to look for cloth for curtains.

Why did she take her comb with her when she went looking for cloth?

In one shop she showed the shopkeeper the comb and then looked at various cloths for curtains for half an hour with him, until he got tired and said to her,

In one shop she showed the shopkeeper the comb and then looked at various cloths for curtains for half an hour with him, until he got tired and said to her,

‘Madam, wouldn’t it be easier just to buy some cloth you like, and then find a new comb to go with that?’

‘Madam, wouldn’t it be easier just to buy some cloth you like, and then find a new comb to go with that?’

‘Madam, wouldn’t it be easier just to buy some cloth you like, and then find a new comb to go with that?’

it is easier to buy

It is hard to do something

It is easy to do something find a new comb to go with that find something to do something

Review + audio

t.me/englishnerd\_ir

Mrs. Scott bought a new house last year. The walls of the rooms had been painted a short time before, and Mrs. Scott liked the colors, but the person who had sold her the house had taken the curtains with him.

So Mrs. Scott had to buy new ones, and of course she wanted to buy ones whose colors would go with the walls of her rooms.

She discovered that her comb was exactly the same color as these walls, so she always took it with her whenever she went to look for cloth for curtains.

In one shop she showed the shopkeeper the comb and then looked at various cloths for curtains for half an hour with him, until he got tired and said to her,

‘Madam, wouldn’t it be easier just to buy some cloth you like, and then find a new comb to go with that?’

